

BE-PLATES and BE-SLABS

If the program was not installed before, the data path after installation points to the directory where the program is installed. However, the program cannot store any data there. Therefore, change the data path.

To do this, click on the button Data path . The following window will open:

Go to the bottom line and enter there:

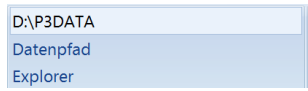

D:\P3DATA (or any other name or any other drive) and press the Enter key (Return key). This is then your data path and the program saves the data of the individual items in this directory. If the computer has no drive D:, then enter C:\P3DATA.

For control purposes, the program displays the current data path in the main menu

BE-PLATES and BE-SLABS

---

Your should see your data path listed